DJ CHAUNCEY D, a loud and proud Jersey Boy (and not ashamed to say it), first added those two letters “D” and “J” to his name back in 2002 at Urge Lounge in New York City’s East Village. DJ CHAUNCEY D is self-taught and that is what has created his most unique sound, style and sensibility.

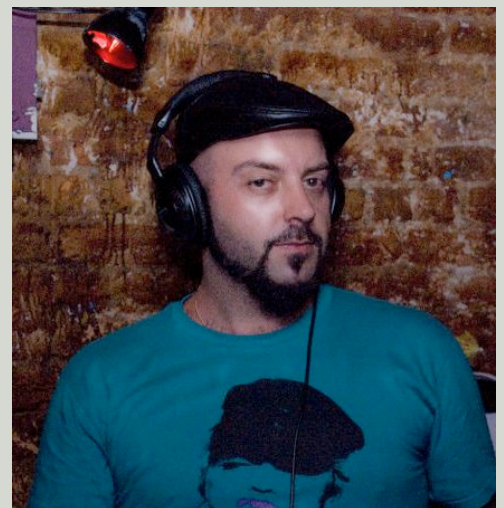

DJ CHAUNCEY D has supplied the sleazy soundscapes for many of New York City’s gay “hot spots” such as Nowhere, Boysroom, Daddy @ Vlada, GRUFF @ The Eagle, Hugs, Stonewall, Sugarland, Eastern Bloc, The Phoenix, No Parking, The Chapel @ Limelight, The Cock, The Dugout, Woof! @ View Bar and Woof! (Philadelphia) as well as various Metrobear Events.

Currently, he holds a weekly residency at Woody’s in the East Village with his already heralded SODOMIGHTY party featuring brimstone beats by Mr. Dandridge himself. Also, on the first Sunday of every month at NOWHERE Bar in the East Village, Chauncey holds his BEETLEJUICE party where he flavours his set with new jack swing, classic house, grunge, freestyle and more from the late 80s and early 90s with visuals and themes from the same era. This is the very first party Chauncey has completely conceived on his own and each month he performs the triple duties of hosting, DJing and producing a wonderfully successful, heavily attended evening of ‘naughty nostalgia’ almost entering its third year!

DJ CHAUNCEY D’s taste in music is constantly expanding along with his professional music resume. His insatiable need to share brand new musical discoveries is only matched by his love for New Wave, Disco, and the Classic House that served as the soundtrack of his arrival on the New York City club scene in the mid-90s.

NEXT Magazine once labeled him a “queer celebrity” and DJ CHAUNCEY D constantly searches for and finds ways to twinkle. He is also a writer, poet, lyricist, event producer, activist, masochist, narcissist and avid blogger.
